

NEWS OF HORSES AND HORSEMEN

Belgravia Farm Trotters Enter the List of Standard Speed.

L. MONTROSE AND BARLIGHT

Sidney Prince and His Get—Otterburn Foals—Grandpa in Fine Form.

At Lexington, Ky., on August 6th, George B. Hayes, who has a stable there with Vice-Commodore and other horses of class, marked two trotters for James Cox, of Belgravia Farm, Mount Jackson, Va. They were Lucy Montrose, 1:24, and Barlight, 1:20, and both of them were trotted in the hands of the Belgravia Farm driver, Kelly, 2:27, a full brother to the great mare Expressive, 3, 2:12, by Belconer. Lucy Montrose is a bay mare, seven years old, and out of Minnie Montrose, by Robert McGregor. She was bred at Belgravia, and has trotted twice before, 2:27 for Hayes. Barlight is a brown gelding, six years old, full sixteen hands in height, and weighing 1,200 pounds, and with size and speed he combines good looks and nice manners, which render him pleasant to drive, and later he may be mated and put to use as a champion horse at Belgravia. Barlight's dam is Lady Purdy, by Sam Purdy, 2:26, second dam Mousie, dam of Hazel Baskin, 2:45, the sire of Belle Truitt, 2:24. Belgravia is a fine estate, and right in the heart of the far-famed Shenandoah Valley, one of the most beautiful sections in all Virginia. Last summer Mr. Cox made a tour of England, the land of his nativity, and this one a sojourn at Saratoga, where the runners are performing, affords many attractions, but later the master of Belgravia may look upon the great lights of the trotting turf that are expected to race at different points along the Grand Circuit line.

Floyd Brothers, Bridgeport, Va., have sold to Scott Maxwell, Cordova, Ala., who has connected with a big training establishment there, and breeds and trains a few trotters for diversion, a fast four-year-old bay filly, by Sidney Prince, 1:21 1-4, dam Benzetta, by Bende, son of General Benton. In the exchange Mr. Maxwell put in the handsome roan colt, Judge Penn, by Fred S. Wilkes, 2:11 3-4, dam Molli, by Alphonso, 8:00, second dam Carrie B, dam of Carrie Onward, 2:14 1-4, J. C. Simpson, 2:18 1-4, etc., by Blue Bull. The deal was made "sight unseen," and prompted by C. D. Carter, the man who brought out the sensational trotter Billy Rich, 2:07 1-4, The Messers, Floyd, owners of Sidney Prince, are the largest breeders on the Eastern Shore of Virginia, and have made a number of sales of the get of that horse this year, while in addition the son of Sidney has served 140 naves, and twenty-five are booked for a full season.

Opportunity considered, ever a factor to be reckoned on, the son of Sidney has a remarkable showing this season, as five new performers among his get have entered the list of standard speed, giving him a total of fifteen, with others to follow, while in addition the bay mare Princine has taken a new mark of 2:15 1-4, and shown her ability to trot much faster.

The recent death, due to typhoid fever, after an illness of but short duration, of William Weland, formerly of Goshen, N. Y., but more recently of Norfolk, Va., and Snowden, N. C., removes from the scene of action a man likely to have made a success of breeding and training in the "Old North State." In the former position as a trainer for J. Howard Ford and others at the Driving Park, Goshen, N. Y., Mr. Weland was well known to horsemen and others, while since his removal South and purchase of a farm near Snowden he had created quite a favorable impression in his new location.

P. S. Hunter, of the Otterburn Stud, Loretto, Essex county, Va., reports the following thoroughbred foals for the season of 1906:

Vicinity, by Viceroy-Glinka, foaled a bay filly by Judge Morrow.

Sneeze, by Pontiac-Courant d'Air, foaled a bay colt by Judge Morrow.

Norma, by Locust-Vexation, slipped twins by Judge Morrow.

Beulah Ferguson, by Don Jose-Juliet M., foaled a chestnut colt by Judge Morrow.

Millenium, by Sylvator-Milly, foaled a bay colt by Judge Morrow.

Hallier, by Rapallo-Imballi, foaled a brown filly by Corolstein.

Solonia, by Sillette, or Branch-Bonnie Kate, foaled a chestnut filly by Orday.

Virginia, by Helmdal-Prairie Bird, foaled a chestnut filly by Judge Morrow.

Grandpa, the chestnut gelding by Grandmaster, dam Philpa, winner of the Shiloh steeplechase at Saratoga on the 18th instant, is in fine shape this season, and though having been raced for several seasons, is seemingly in better form than during any previous year. He is now seven years old. His sire, Grandmaster, now bred at Belgravia, has been a good quality and finish, and will probably be recalled by those who saw the English bred son of Barcaline and Belherness on exhibition at the old Virginia State Fairs more than a decade back. Grandmaster was then owned by A. B. Craven, of Greenwood, Va., the breeder of Grandpa.

Albert L. Rountree, of the cotton Brook-farm of R. H. Rountree & Co., New York, and a member of the New York Cotton Exchange, whose death took place in Brooklyn on the 18th instant, was during former years not an infrequent visitor here, among his friends being Joseph Lankster, with whom he was interested at different times in some speedy trotters like the bay mare Laura C., 2:25 1-4, by Norfolk, and others.

Rountree was a native of New York, and his body was taken to Kingston, in that State, for interment.

The speed programme of the Virginia State Fair shows that $7,000 will be distributed in purses for trotters, pacers and runners that are to perform here October 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th. Those for harness races range from $300 to $400 each, while for runners they are from $200 to $300. The latter are offered both for contests on the flat and steeplechase events. Entries close October 4th. The track committee is made up of J. T. Anderson, M. C. Patterson and L. O. Miller, with C. W. Smith as race secretary.

BROAD ROCK.

PERMIT FOR RACE.

Vanderbilt Auto Competition to Be Held on October 6th.

NEW YORK, August 25.—Over a course that will be faster but far more dangerous than that of last year the W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., cup race will be held on October 6th, next, in Nassau county, Long Island. At the Automobile Association of America did not make public the intended route this year, there was little opposition to-day when application was made to the Board of Supervisors for permission to use the county roads, and the application was granted.

While two danger points have been removed by changing the northwest end of the course about a mile to the northeast, it will be remembered that last year nearly all of the serious accidents occurred at the difficult turns. To avoid a railroad crossing at New Hyde Park and the famous B curve at Albertson's Corner, it was necessary to add a turn that experts believe will be worse than any of the others.

This turn will be at Old Westbury. There the course comes from the back road and turns abruptly east toward Roslyn. The road at this point almost doubles back on itself, so that the cars will have to come to half speed or less in order to make the turn without mishaps.

W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., donor of the cup and referee of the previous year, believes that the new course will meet with the approval of all entrants.

FAMOUS HORSES DIE.

The Huguenot, Axtell and Arabian Boy Run Last Race.

SEATTLE, August 25.—The Huguenot, the famous race horse that won the Brooklyn Derby in 1898, broke a tendon in his front leg, and afterward was killed. The Huguenot won eight straight races here, and in one ran a mile in 1:38 1-2.

He was by Knight of Ellerslie-Miss Rose, and was a full brother of Henry of Navarre, but his greatest distinction was that he was a living, breathing proof that thoroughbred, if not "raced," horses can pass the half-acre yearling mark and still dash madly over a race-course in full flight and beat youngsters home. The old gelding would have been twelve years old in December.

TERRE HAUTE, IND., August 25.—Axtell, a colt, that 1888 made the world's trotting record of that time, died at the Warren Park Stock Farm of spasmodic colic. The animal, which was owned by J. C. Simpson, was bought by a syndicate for $105,000.

NORRISTOWN, August 25.—Arabian Boy, with a record of 2:57, owned by John Hest, broke a leg while scoring at the half-mile track at Jeffersonville. The horse was being prepared for the matinee race on Friday. Arabian Boy had been a matinee winner for the past ten years, always finishing first or second. He was destroyed.

STILL HAS HOPES.

Says New York and Athletics Have Shot Their Bolts.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 25.—The flag race between Cleveland and Chicago is the way Lajoie is figuring, and the odds are in his favor. Lajoie is in high spirits of making up lost ground and being in the finish with the White Sox.

When a club is as ambitious as "C" seems to be to land a flag, and drops a string of games in the West, as the Yanks did recently, it can't figure where he has a chance to win in the West, and the New Yorks are away to the bad in the pitching line," said Larry today.

Chicago is the club we have to beat. I do not fear New York and Philadelphia. They have shot their bolts. Jose, Bernhard and Rhoades, Larry figures his corps as good as Chicago's, and Cleveland's big edge on betting is that Lajoie, Turner, Sioval and Rosman make an infield with few peers. With them in score shape and the team handicapped by only the absence of Bradley and Boyd, it is hard to understand why the Naps should not have something to say.

BUTTERWORTH NOW OUT FOR SENATORSHIP

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW HAVEN, CONN., August 25.—Frank B. Butterworth, Yale '95, who was known as Yale's greatest quarterback, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator in the Eighth District of this city.

"I don't want it said that my friends have prevailed upon me to run as a public duty, or for any such talk," he said. "It is my ambition to enter public life."

Butterworth was born in Ohio. His father, Benjamin Butterworth, was for years a Congressman. Since his graduation Butterworth has been in the brokerage business in New York and this city.

MISS HILDA SPONG IN HER NEW PLAY

Will Open Her Season in "Lady Jim" at Weber's Theater.

BUYS LAKE COMO VILLA

Fritzi Scheff Returns From Europe With Three Foreign Maids and a Poodle.

One of the most attractive actresses on the American stage is Miss Hilda Spong, who possesses that rare gift—a charming personality.

Born in England, but raised in Australia, Hilda Spong comes of a family that has for many generations been identified with the theatre. Rising from a position of the best child actress in Australia to a comedienne of rare ability, Miss Spong's reputation became known in England. It was here that she made such an impression by her work that Daniel Frohman brought her to America to play the leading role in "Trelawny of the Wells." Her work in this play caused her to be engaged as leading woman in the famous Lyceum Theatre Stock Company, with which organization she remained several seasons. Charles Frohman then engaged her to lead his celebrated Empire Theatre company. With William Faversham in a revival of "Lord and Lady Alvy," she shared the honors with the star. A big hit was credited to her up, "Lady Huntworth's Experiment." She next appeared as leading woman to Henry Miller in "Joseph Entangled." At the Madison Square Theatre Hilda Spong demonstrated her characterization of Mrs. Calverly in "The Willis Steels," four-act comedy. "The Firm of Cunningham," that she had no superior in America as a comedienne. The next season found her leading lady with William H. Crane in "An American Lord." The coming season is to see her as a star under the management of Walter N. Lawrence in Harold Heaton's three-act comedy, "Lady Jim," which opens in New York at Weber's Theatre.

Miss Maude Adams endeavored herself to our hearts with added intensity the past season as Peter Pan, who wished to live in "Never." She has left us and would not grow up. She has left us another portrayal so artistic and so decidedly a Maude Adams character, that it will always remain in memory as a great artist. That she was born in Salt Lake City, not so very many years ago, is not unfamiliar to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she was a member of the Charles Frohman Stock Company, and later appeared with John Drew. Her more recent triumphs as "Lady Babbie," in "The Little Minister"; Juliet, in "Romeo and Juliet"; the Duc de Rochefort, in "L'Aiglon"; and Miss Phoenix, in "Quality Street," are each a favorite to most readers. Her mother was an actress, then playing a stock company there. Miss Adams joined E. H. Sothern's "Midnight Bell" when only sixteen years of age. Afterward she